EDITORIAL

We have completed our district conference in Louisville, Ky. at the Calvary Apostolic Church where Rev. Gerald Vittitow was the host pastor. We of the Kentucky district board wish to extend our thanks to the fine saints, ushers, the wonderful cooks, and kitchen help. May God bless you for your labor you did for the conference.

We wish to extend an humble and graceful welcome to all our new ministers and their churches that may with the district board.

There was a wonderful spirit in the election of the officers. Most of the offices stayed the same with the exception of two replacements and the board appointed a fulfillment. The new ladies auxiliary secretary and treasurer is Sister Sharon White, wife of Rev. Joe Boyd White, pastor of Glasgow United Pentecostal Church. Sister White, we feel sure that God helped us make the choice - and to Sister Vittitow, who resigned because of health and church duties - I say, a job well done.

May God bless as you labor for him:

Rev. James H. Cain was appointed to act as presbyter of D section due to the fact that this section has only one church. It is a new section and Rev. Cain is our home missions director and the closest to this section. Rev. David Sauer was elected as presbyter of E section. Rev. Sauer is a great man of God and we are looking forward to serving on the board with him. Rev. S. W. Chambers, general superintendent of the United Pentecostal Church, was with us in the elections and spoke for the conference on November 10th. This was one of the greatest sermons I have ever heard. The Lord blessed our conference with Brother J. R. Ensey for the home missions department. Brother Kenneth Haney spoke for the youth and stirred all our hearts greatly with a timely message. Brother Pugh spoke to us and Brother Tennis, our out-going missionary to the Iron Curtain country, spoke from his heart to us. May God bless him and help him and his family.

The winter retreat will be December 30, 31, and January 1, 1971, at Russellville United Pentecostal Church, where Rev. C. P. Baskerville will be the host pastor. There will be more on this in issues to come. Be sure to come.

Kentucky - we love you and every Kentuckian counts. I am looking forward to watching Kentucky grow and I am proud to be part of such a great district.

REV. GEORGE O. CUMPTON

MOREHEAD UNITED PENTECOSTAL CHURCH

The Morehead U.P.C. on Toliver Avenue is conducting a Sunday School contest during the month of November. So far this year the record has been broken twice, tied once, and came within 2 of breaking it again. A radio is being given away to the person bringing the greatest number during November. Brother Bob Syoc is scheduled to preach the youth rally in January at the church.

We were happy to have Brother Howard Buckner and approximately 10 of his people visit from Ohio last week-end.

Brother Carl McKellar of Terre Haute, Indiana is scheduled to visit Morehead in the near future concerning the Pentecostal Youth Fellowship on College Campuses.

SHELBYVILLE UNITED PENTECOSTAL CHURCH

We are overjoyed as we send in our first church news of Shelbyville, Ky. to the Kentucky District News. Our first Sunday School was only three (3) people besides Sister Martin, Sammie, and myself. Then after eight (8) weeks we had twenty-two (22). The wonderful part about it was - they were all Shelbyville people and no visitors from other places. When we went there, only two (2) people had promised us they would come. We believe it is going to grow and grow. We thank everyone who has helped us. We have forty-eight (48) chairs paid for and on the way. Thanks to all our friends who have helped us so much. Our services are Sunday morning Sunday School - 10:00, Sunday night - 7:30 evangelistic service, and Wednesday night Bible study - 7:30. We are located at 1023 Main St. just below the City Police Station. Please come when you can and visit us and pray for the work there.

COVINGTON APOSTOLIC GOSPEL CHURCH

Greetings in Jesus Name! Here are our reports for this month: Sunday School 70 - we are working to get this up to 100; Ladies Auxilliary - we have been very busy. We had four (4) new members to join our club. We had a rummage sale last month and we are making candy - and it is selling good here in Covington. I don't have the total but God has blessed us thus far. The ladies auxiliary has put new carpet in our church Church Service - we had a visiting preacher Thursday night. Everyone rejoiced in the Lord. Our young people are working on their Bible quiz - our young people has made us very proud of them. Events; our song fest was November 1. Our guest singers were the Tones of Joy. Our song fest will be the first Sunday of every month. (Everyone is welcome). Pray for us in Covington, Ky.

REPORTING FOR SECTION I

Greetings! First of all I would like to say we feel Brother Robert Grace, our youth leader for this section is doing a wonderful job. Our youth rally for October was held in Hopkinsville at Brother Grace's church. We had a glorious service - Brother James Thornton was the speaker for the evening. The altar was filled with young people re-dedicating their lives to God. The banner was retained by Brother Thornton's church. Brother Butts has planned several fellowship dinners for the ministers and their wives of this section. We have enjoyed the wonderful fellowship and feel we are working closer together. Our youth rally for November was held in Madisonville at Brother James Thornton's church. We are enjoying unusual good crowds and wonderful services. We were blessed to have Brother Tinus, an out-going missionary to Austria, as our speaker for the evening. There was good representation from each church in this section and Brother James Thornton's church retained the banner. The rally next month will be held in Owensboro, Kentucky at Brother Jackson's church.

LEXINGTON UNITED PENTECOSTAL CHURCH

Praise the Lord! God certainly has blessed our Sunday School each week since Center of Interest has been in operation. It has grown each Sunday - in fact we had to change these classes because the primary class has grown to 26 already. Praise the Lord! I know that there are going to be times when you are up and down but I thank the Lord that we are on the move and I really feel that we are growing and that we are going to grow much more and new homes opened to the truth through the children and maybe it won't be long until the parents will be coming. We thank everyone that came to help us with our operation demonstration. Some of you came a hundred miles or more to help us - yet - when you had churches of your own to take care of, but you cared and wanted to see new families be taught the Word of God, we want you to know that we appreciate it very much. We also thank the Lord for the two new families that have moved here from Bowling Green and Brother and Sister Rose have also moved back from St. Louis. Brother and Sister Fred Turner have been blessed with an 8 pound, 14 ounce baby boy. Sister Turner is the former Janet Gilbert On November 6 there is going to be a chili super in the church basement. $1.00 for adults, 50¢ for children under 12. Starts at 6:00 and all you can eat for the price. Won't you come and join us? We were glad to have Brother and Sister Tilley and Brother and Sister Moran with us this past Saturday night. Brother Tilley preached for our youth service Saturday night. May God bless these fine families. Continue to remember our church in prayer. May God bless everyone of you in your labor for Him.

Sherman Harris, Pastor

SUMMERSVILLE UNITED PENTECOSTAL CHURCH

We have been doing good up to here but looking for a great move of God in this community and to grow we must hold fast to the faith and believe God for it. We were asked to preach the Pre-Thanksgiving Service for the community service of ministers service alliance in Summersville and we did and I feel that God has opened up some doors here for us so we ask an interest in your prayers upon this matter. Lord bless you is our prayer and come see us when you can. Yours for Souls.

WHAT A CHRISTIAN CONQUEROR MISSES

How often I've heard said 'since I became a Christian,
My life must be dull and I don't know what I'm missin';
No smoking, drinking, or gambling, or other things of the world so fine,

So I started looking around to see what was missing in this life of mine'.

It's true I don't smoke, I'm not hooked on the weed,
So maybe I've missed lung cancer and a bad habit I don't need;

Yes, I've quit my drinking - many alcoholics wish they could, too,

I guess I've missed a hangover or maybe a drunkard's doom.

Probably I've missed a lot by not gambling - the marked cards - the loaded dice,

Mostly I've missed losing my money - yes, I'm glad
I don't live a gambler's life;

They say I've really missed it - not taking dope. I could forget my troubles with L.S.D.

But Jesus has the answers to my problems - so why ruin my life with something I don't need?

Yes, I've missed many things - for this I am glad,
For what I've missed is not the good - but only the bad.

But the mist I have missed is still yet to be,
If I am faithful - I'll miss being in Hell throughout eternity.

LANDMARKS

When I was a child with glowing face and barren feet, We scampered in our neighbored yards and down the street;

All the people I knew in every house seem to stay the same.

You could proudly go by and call them by name,
The lovely old houses seemed like mansions to me;
Occupied the same friends - their smiling faces we could see.

Now it seems today as you stroll down the street,
The faces and voices aren't the ones you used to meet;
An age worn building or one with a younger face,
Has removed the old landmarks and youth took its place.

The old folks have moved on to get their pay,
As we read in the news of their daily passing away;
And then I remember - why I'm full grown;

Today I am making landmarks of my own.
The children I bear will some day say,

"That's the old places we used to play".

I hope I can do the same as my mother did,
To teach me God's love and respect when I was a kid.

WHY VISITATION IS IMPORTANT

This year since Brother Dean and myself started doing visitation work on Saturday afternoon, on two different occasions, we invited a person to Sunday School. They were too busy or just did not want to worship the Lord in Spirit and Truth. Within six weeks after being invited, both of these men met the Lord.

Just this day one of the men was killed - shot five times. It has been about six weeks since Brother Dean and I stopped along the road and talked with him.
Neither men had time to be with the Lord, but as of this day, time has stopped for BOTH. Brother Dean and I have done our part. We invited them - their blood will not be on our shoulders. What about you? Have you been out doing visitation? Is someone's blood on your shoulders?

by Kermit Ferguson, Morehead, Ky

My testimony - I had been attending class with this group of ladies for seven months. They had treated me wonderful. I lent a helping hand and tried daily to live a good life before them. Graduation time - banquet time, they honored me by asking me to give the prayer. Can any of you know what it is like to be frightened to pray?
You have prayed tears - now you're frightened. The realization that you have this one last opportunity to lead these ladies to the Lord! I was scared! I knew though that some of our people would pray for me. So I just trusted the Lord and He filled my mouth with this prayer (This was class of all women. As I read it over, I feel it was just as He would have it to be.)

GRADUATES PRAYER

by GLADYS M. JARRETT

Lord grant to us: power to overcome, but not to overrule
Give great strength not for ourselves but for the weak.
Clothe us with grace enough to be humble.

Let humility with wisdom be a crown.

Grant wisdom that we might teach.

To be capable to teach, yet willing to take instruction.
That we might lead in prudence, patience, understanding, gentleness, goodness, and love.

Give us the right answer: a soft answer turneth away wrath.

Teach us to wait on Thy boundy; but to work while waiting.

May we dwell at ease with all men everywhere, because we are Thy creation.

May there be light when the way is dark - may friends find us true in all walks of life.

Give us vast determination to search out the truths of light that we walk worthy of the vocation we have chosen.

May the test not be easier, but us more reliable in Thy hands; that we might know the just shall live by faith.

Grant to us these petitions that we may serve others to the fullest of our ability. In Jesus Name We Pray.

MURRAY, KY.

THE RAPTURE

by Harold Mounce, Louisville, Ky.

Everyone is watching for that great and noble day,
when Jesus shall come back to take His bride away;
We don't know when He shall come again, at the day, time, or hour;
The main thing is to be ready for we're not promised tomorrow.
This world is in an awful shape - sin is taking control;
they don't know just where to turn or what the future holds.
Something has got to happen - the world, they know
it, too;
But are they ready to meet Jesus? Are you?
We have to die daily in this world of sin,
Sinner, backslider - you have to be born again.
Let Jesus come into your heart - let Him keep you in capture;
then you'll have the promise of being in the rapture.
Just to behold His glory - just to know you're there, oh, how wonderful to know that you're in His care.

I KNOW SOMETHING GOOD ABOUT YOU

Wouldn't this old world be better, if the folks we meet would say,
(I know something good about you) and then treat us just that way?
Wouldn't things here be more pleasant, if the good that's in us all,
Were the only things about us that folks bothered to recall?
Wouldn't life be much more happy, if we'd praise the good we see?
For there's such a lot of goodness in the worst of you and me.
Wouldn't it be nice to practice this fine way of thinking too;
You know something good about me, I know something good about you?

FROM A SUBSCRIBER

Many times the spoken word is forgotten, but the written word will live on. My, what a blessing it would have been if many of our old timers would have written more.

This is the day for the United Pentecostal Church.
God has put us in the kingdom for this time. I long for more of our people to fall in love with the gospel message of truth. Articles on the new birth, Holiness, and soul winning are such a need these days. God will bless anyone who will take a certain stand and cry aloud.

DEATH OF A YOUNG DRUG ADDICT: MINISTER AND WIFE SHARE GRIEF

HOPEWELL JUNCTION, N.Y. (AP) — Barefoot and clutching wild flowers, Jeff Stewart's friends came to bury him, man-child of a drug generation, son of a Methodist minister.

For days, weeks, even a year before he died, some of these same teen-agers had come to Jeff, not with wild flowers, but to share marijuana, heroin, barbiturates and LSD.

Jeffrey Ross Stewart, 17, a star baseball player, died of an overdose of barbiturates in a clubhouse he helped build on Candy Lane.

The tragedy in the Hudson Valley village, population 300, and a picture of small town America, may well reflect what is happening in communities all across the country.

The last year of Jeff's life was a time of deep torment for his parents. He became very thin, couldn't sleep nights and had little interest in anything. Like thousands of other parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Harold Stewart agonized over their inability to understand why their child turned to drugs.

Reached in a small cabin on the shore of Lake Brant, about 20 miles above Lake George where they'd gone to rest, the Stewarts agreed to talk about their son's life and death in hopes that it will convey a message to other young people whose fascination with drugs baffles them.

"Yes, we knew he was taking drugs, but we didn't know what to do," the Rev. Mr. Stewart said. "Last summer he was in a hospital's psychiatric unit, but they discharged him after a week. That was after he took LSD."

Ann Stewart, a small, gray-haired woman whose sunshine yellow dress did little to relieve her grief, broke in to say: "On the way home from the hospital, he said he wished he were a little boy again so he could start life over. He told me he wished he'd never started taking drugs. The problem is he wanted to stop, but he thought he could do it himself. We tried to get him into Dutchess County Health Center, but he wouldn't go. "I can handle it myself," he said."

Born in Rome, N.Y., Nov. 22, 1952, Jeff moved to Hopewell Junction nine years ago with his family.

Hopewell Junction, 13 miles south of Poughkeepsie in the town of East Fishkill, is a comfortable country hamlet with no slums, no serious unemployment problem and not even its own police force. None of the village youths has died in Vietnam.

The Stewarts said their son was a handsome boy, about 6 feet 1—"if only he didn't have that long hair." They said he was about a B student "when he wanted to study," interested in music and art.

Jeff was the youngest of five children. Two sisters are married, one with three children the other with two. His two brothers live at home.

"Being the youngest, he had more material things than the other children," Mrs. Stewart said. "Goodness knows we're not rich, but we like to make our children happy. Last Christmas we bought Jeff a $350 bass guitar because we knew he wanted one. He loved to play it."

Most of Jeff's friends said they, too, experiment with drugs. Some said they "smoke" (marijuana) and "drop acid" (LSD) regularly.

Though disapproving of drug abuse, most of the town residents agree there's no place in Hopewell Junction for young people to gather and little for them to do. There's no movie, no bowling alley, no discotheque and no teen center.

Yet not all adult residents here are sympathetic with the teen-agers' complaint of boredom.

"This notion of having no place to go—when I was a kid, we had to ride three miles on a bicycle just to find someone to play with and we managed to keep our noses clean," said the mother of one boy who takes drugs.

Jeff was popular with his friends. He was one of them. He shared with them a love of mod clothes, long hair, rock music and "stuff."

Last June, Jeff hocked his guitar for $25 to buy heroin. His brother said, "He really must have needed it bad because he loved that guitar."

One of Jeff's closest friends explained how the young people in Hopewell Junction share drugs.

"Finding money for drugs isn't a problem. You gotta understand. We have, like an alliance. My stuff was his stuff and his was mine. Me, like maybe I spend 25 or 50 bucks a month for drugs, but I share it, and the others, they share theirs with me. If I go to a party and I got some grass, like it's not just mine. It's everybody's."

The one place many teen-agers in Hopewell Junction used to gather was a small plaster-board clubhouse they built a year or so ago. And it was here, amid the handpainted peace signs and a pile of old clothes where Jeff Stewart died.

On Saturday night, Aug. 22, Jeff and a friend went to the clubhouse, apparently planning to share some "downers."

The next morning at about 9:30, two youths are reported to have stopped by. They found Jeff stretched out on the floor dead, his buddy asleep beside him.

A friend of the boys who found Jeff said they became frightened, confused and "freaked out."

Some time in late morning the boys went to their homes. An anonymous telephone call alerted a local rescue squad.

Charles Borchers, chief detective of the sheriff's department said three teen-agers were arrested a short time later at their homes on charges of "failure to report a death and conspiring to conceal the body." The woman who owned the property of which the clubhouse was built was arrested on a charge of "maintaining a public nuisance."

Borchers said the youth who had taken drugs the night before with Jeff was found wandering around the clubhouse unaware his friend had died. He was arrested on a charge of public intoxication.

Guidance counselors at John Jay High School, which served 1,700 students from surrounding towns, estimate at least 40 per cent of the students smoke marijuana. They say they're sure more have tried it out of curiosity and that there is a definite group which uses hard drugs.

"I feel so helpless," said a mother whose son takes drugs. "I see no answer. Unless your child is an addict, there's not much you can do."

The mother, an attractive woman in her mid-40s, said she has no use for her child's friends. She continued: "I'm sorry, call me square, but I associate long hair with drugs. I like the clean-cut look. This is a selfish generation. All they want to do is take, take, take and never give in return."

Since Jeff died, the clubhouse has been knocked down "so nothing else will happen there." During the afternoons, some of the teen-agers gather at a local swimming hole. It's polluted, but there's another attraction. They say marijuana grows in the woods nearby.

At night, they like to meet at a local lake where they stand around drinking beer and smoking cigarettes and pot. One evening recently, 10 to 15 teen-agers drifted by. Six or eight squeezed in a car to listen to rock music on the radio. Others sat under a pagoda gazing at the stars.

It was the end of summer. Few had worked and few were tanned. Most looked unhappy and unhealthy. Their eyes had no spark. Their humor was flat.

Many said they weren't looking forward to school starting "because most of high school's a bore." Most agreed they had little communication with their parents.

"My father says if it weren't for us kids, this world would be a decent place," said one 16-year-old girl.

A 17-year-old boy said, "I suppose I'd like them to understand me a little better, but there's a barrier on both sides. I don't listen to them, they don't listen to me."

He continued: "What does Jeff's death mean to me? Well, some kids will probably stop dropping flippies for a while. I mean, you got to watch that stuff and know what you're getting so you don't take some with too much rat poison in it."

The boy turned to leave, but then he stopped, adding, "Look, I liked Jeff, but he was a lost soul. Me, I know what I'm doing. I can handle it."

Using the piano, accoustical guitar, bass, steel guitar, drums and rhythm guitar, the trio has recorded one of the best albums out today. You will enjoy the old standard, "Farther Along", and the arrangement of the song, "If The Light Has Gone Out Of Your Soul". The trio also recorded ten other favorites: "I Stand Amazed", "There's A Way To Cross Over", "I Don't Know", "Keep Your Eyes On Jesus", "Thank You For The Valley", "In The Beginning", "As Long As I Live", "I Couldn't Get Along", "I'm Lost For Words", and "I'll Wear The Banner".

You cannot help but enjoy this new STEREO album, and we'd like to send it out your way. JERUSALEM, Israel: The Western Wall of the Temple (Wailing Wall) is one of the most sacred Jewish sites in the Holy Land. Cut off from Israel for the past 20 years, its return to the bosom of Israel has resulted in a world wide rejoicing among Jews.

NAZARETH, Israel: Donkeys are still a common sight on the streets of Nazareth. These hardy animals are as useful to the current residents of the city as they were to its inhabitants some 2,000 years ago.

TABERNACLE, Israel: The ancient mosaic of the Miracle of Loaves and Fishes is today housed in a Benedictine Monastery on the shore of the Sea of Galilee. The mosaic commemorates the feeding of the multitudes by Jesus.

JERUSALEM, Israel: The Damascus Gate which leads into the old walled city of Jerusalem is one of the busiest of the many city entrances. On the Jerusalem skyline are the twin domes of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

CAESAREA, Israel: Roman pillars mark the shore at Caesarea, the Roman capital of Israel. Crusader invaders who captured the city used the Roman pillars as reinforcement for the walls of the city they constructed here. The more recent buildings date from the Turkish occupation.
